

Gardens

Private gardens account for the largest area of green space in many of our large towns and cities. This makes them wonderful places for bats, as they provide an important source of food, water and shelter.

What to look out for?

If you regularly sit out in your garden on a nice summer evening, you may eventually be rewarded with the sight of bats flying or feeding over your garden - let us know if you do by adding your bat sighting to our Big Bat Map.